

Social Worker - Elder Abuse

The Carter Burden Center for the Aging, www.carterburdencenter.org, is an innovative, non-profit, community-based agency. Our mission is to help older adults in the community remain living safely in their homes ... with dignity.

We now have an opening for a LMSW, bilingual English/Spanish preferred, in CEMAPP – Community Elder Mistreatment and Abuse Prevention Program. This crisis intervention elder abuse program provides services to older adults and their families in Central & Northern Manhattan.

This professional social worker must be flexible and able to thrive working independently. Responsibilities include crisis intervention counseling, home-visits, safety planning, support group facilitation, and presentations in the community. Client advocacy, especially with the police, court, and medical systems, is a major component of our work.

Experience working with older adults and knowledge of elder abuse or domestic violence preferred.

Benefits include fully paid medical and dental insurance.
Salary is commensurate with experience.
